Closed Meetings Against Law
The "open meetings" law recently enacted by the North Carolina General Assembly may be about to get a severe test.

In Burlington, the school board, under federal court orders to desegregate, has announced it will not make its deliberations public until it has perfected a plan it is sure will be acceptable to the court.

We in Mecklenburg County, on our experience over the past two years, will attest to the dubious value of such a policy. And, in the light of the "open meetings" act, we can wonder whether it isn't against the law.

In Winston-Salem, the Board of County Commissioners is angry at morning newspapers in town for publishing a front-page story that the commissioners have been meeting secretly over budget and school questions.

Our experience in Mecklenburg over many years will again attest to the doubtful value of such secret sessions, and in the light of the "open meetings" act, so does the law. — Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

Bloodmobile Solicits 18 Year Olds

Recently enacted legislation not only gives 18 year old men the right to vote, but a new law also gives the right to give blood without parental consent. Eighteen year old girls have had this right for some time.

New blood donors are always needed and the Bloodmobile Chairman urges young people 18 to 21 to become donors. By giving Bloodmobile Blood here in Hope they will become eligible to receive Red Cross Blood anywhere in the USA. This, of course, does not mean that the blood will be given free but the cost is generally a lower than a Commercial Bloodbank would be.

Most importantly the blood will be available when you need it, without having to appeal for donors in a strange city. Give blood on Monday, August 16th, when the Bloodmobile comes to Hope and we will have it when it's needed later. The Bloodmobile will be at the First Presbyterian Church from 12 noon to 6:00 P.M.

Whites Stop Newsmen at Marianna

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — A group of whites reportedly stopped a car carrying a newsman and photographer for Little Rock television station KATV on a downtown street here Monday and one white man attempted to pull photographer Mike Melton from the car. Claude Locke, the newsman driving the car, said the man got Melton's camera out of the car but was unable to get Melton out of the vehicle. Locke said, however, that State Troopers quickly took the man into custody and returned the camera.

Locke said State Police followed them while they drove through town.

"We had reports that things were quiet in Marianna so we wanted to go over there and do a piece (story) on the peace," Locke said.

Racial tensions have arisen in Marianna because of an economic boycott by blacks. The blacks have made several demands, including jobs for Negroes.

PSC Favors Arkla on Gas Contracts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. cleared Monday one of the two major hurdles between the utility and new gas supplies in Texas and Oklahoma.

The first hurdle was cleared when the state Public Service Commission voided the long-term contracts between Arkla and its industrial customers.

This is a move Arkla had sought so that rates could be raised on gas provided to the industries in order to raise money to finance construction of a pipeline into the Anadarko Basin of Texas and Oklahoma. Arkla has said the pipeline is needed so new gas supplies can be brought into Arkansas to relieve a shortage of gas.

The second hurdle Arkla has to clear is Federal Power Commission approval of construction of the pipeline. The first stage of the proposed $101 million project has been approved by an FPC examiner.

Chou Won't Mediate War in Any Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai says Communist China will not mediate the Vietnam war "in any way" and will continue to support the forces opposed to the United States pending complete U.S. withdrawal, the New York Times reported today.

Chou made his comments to James Reston, vice president and columnist of the Times, in a recorded interview in Peking last week, the newspaper said.

Reston said Chou was prepared for very broad discussions of world problems when President Nixon visits Peking some time before next May.

Chou stressed that he wanted to talk about the changing roles of the United States, Japan and the Soviet Union in Asia and the Pacific, and was not solely preoccupied with the problems of the Vietnam war or the two-Chinas controversy, Reston said.

Reston reported Chou also made these points:

Gardening Allows Man to Vent Righteous Anger on the Weeds

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Left-handed men make moody husbands, particularly if they are married to right-handed wives.

Gardening is the most moral of all hobbies or pastimes. It allows a person to exercise both his destructive and constructive impulses. He vents his righteous anger by triumphantly destroying weeds, each of which to him personifies the devil, and expresses the sacrificial glory of his nature by rearing lovely flowers, each of which to him becomes a blooming angel.

Most craphooters are kind to children—as long as they don't get in the way when the dice are being thrown.

What is the most interesting smell on earth? Not the loveliest—just the most interesting. I would say it would lie between the smell of camp-horated oil, old-fashioned smelling salts, and the smell of an old barn in spring.

Perhaps there ought to be more specialized television networks—say for example, one for the elderly. Those of us whose nerves are taut from

Administration Winks Approvingly on Trade Deal With Russians

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without committing itself, the Nixon administration has winked an approving eye at what could add up to the biggest U.S.-Soviet trade deal ever.

The Commerce Department flashed the signal Monday, approving export licenses for $162 million worth of foundry equipment "related to" Mack Trucks Inc. plans to build the world's largest truck plant along the Kama River, 600 miles east of Moscow.

But department officials and the White House said no final decision has been made on Mack's application to export roughly $700 million in machine tools and other technology for the project.

"It is still a policy matter," said one.

The export licenses went to a firm, or firms, other than Mack Trucks but the Commerce Department withheld that information under rules requiring confidentiality.

The licenses are "related to the Kama River project," the department said.

In Allentown, Pa., Mack President Zenon C.R. Hansen commented: "I can't really say anything, because as far as I know, the Commerce Department hasn't approved anything involving Mack Trucks."

A company spokesman said foundry equipment is an essential part of the Mack project if it is to be built at all. He said he did not know the firm or firms involved.

Asked if he read the license approvals as evidence of favorable consideration by the administration, the spokesman said "your question might lead logically" to such a conclusion, but added the company is making no such presumptions.

The Soviet government and Mack Trucks worked out the deal this spring, but the transaction hinges on U.S. approval of export licenses for Mack Trucks' technology.

The project could cost between $1 billion and $2 billion, the company spokesman said.

The Commerce Department's Office of Export Control approved three export licenses altogether: one for $37 million of foundry equipment, and a third for technical data for iron and steel foundries.

Included in the equipment okayed for export was an item for manufacture of automotive castings.

Steel Production Down 51.8%

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production plunged 51.8 percent last week in the largest single weekly drop since the 1959 steel strike, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports.

Production declined one million tons from the preceding week to 947,000. In 1959, production fell 1.2 million tons during the week ended July 18, the third day of the strike.

Industry sources attributed the current drop to stockpiling by steel users in anticipation of a strike. Agreement between steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America averted a walkout.

U.S. Dollar Recovers in Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The U. S. dollar made a slight recovery on most European money markets at the start of today's trading but suffered a relapse in Italy.

As the dollar plunged to the floor price of 620.50 lire in Milan, foreign exchange dealers in Frankfurt wondered whether money speculators had shifted their attention to Italy after being boxed out of West Germany, France and Switzerland.

Dealers in Milan said the Bank of Italy, the Country's Central Bank, made small purchases to support the dollar at the intervention level. The dollar had closed Monday at 621.30 lire.

Striking Moon Pictures Released

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The space agency today released five strikingly beautiful color pictures taken by astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin as they explored a valley of the moon at Hadley base.

Scientists, meanwhile, continued their preliminary examination of Apollo 15's moon rocks and doctors scheduled an extra physical exam for the spacemen, who returned to earth Saturday from their 12-day journey.

The first Hadley Base pictures released show the astronauts, their lunar lander Falcon and their moon car on the stark, desolate lunar plain. The sky is jet black, the deep surface dust is gray.

There are shots of the two astronauts saluting the American flag; Irwin sitting in the moon buggy and standing beside it, and the buggy itself, surrounded by the footprints of the explorers. Rising in the distant background in four of the pictures are sections of the Apennine Mountains, their tops rounded like terrestrial hills.

A sixth color shot shows the command ship Endeavour orbiting 70 miles above the moon. It was snapped from the Falcon while the two ships were separated.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also released nine black and white photos of similar content. It delayed release of a film clip until Wednesday.

Possibility of Showers in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The possibility of showers and thundershowers, mainly in the afternoons and evenings, remains in the Arkansas forecast.

The chance of rain will be greater in the northern portion Wednesday as a weak cold front is expected to push southward into northern Arkansas.

However, not much change in temperature is forecast in association with the frontal system.

High temperatures through Wednesday are predicted to be in the 90s, with lows tonight in the upper 60s to mid 70s.

Shower activity was common over eastern and southern Arkansas Monday.

Monday's highs were again in the 90s over much of the state with 92 the highest reading at Texarkana, Harrison and Fort Smith. Other highs ranged downward to an 84 at El Dorado, where clouds and showers held the afternoon temperatures down.

14 Killed in Ireland, Fight Continues

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — New clashes between British troops and rioting youths broke out today in Northern Ireland only hours after the bloodiest day in 50 years of religious and political feuding.

Northern Ireland paid a heavy price for the violence of Monday—14 dead, 94 injured and millions of dollars of property damaged. Of the injured 39 were shot.

The fresh fighting came first in Belfast's Andersonstown district when troops moved in to demolish barricades of burned-out cars built during Monday's fighting.

In Londonderry's Catholic Bogside area, mobs pelted soldiers with stones when they moved toward barricades there. Troops fired gas canisters to break up the crowds.

Sniper fire cracked now and again in Belfast.

Gun battles, bombings, burnings and looting destroyed scores of homes and buildings in Belfast and other cities before the British army brought order. Property damage in Belfast was estimated at more than $2.5 million.

For nearly 24 hours the soldiers battled mobs and roving bands of guerrillas from the Irish Republican Army.

A Roman Catholic Priest was killed in a crossfire as he administered the last rites to an IRA gunman.

Other known dead included a grandmother, another woman, two boys, an industrial security guard, five civilian men and two British soldiers.

At least 40 people have been killed in the communal warfare in Northern Ireland this year and at least 70 lives have been lost since a Roman Catholic civil rights campaign renewed traditional Protestant-Catholic violence two years ago.

The Protestant-dominated government on Monday rounded up more than 300 suspected terrorists and Prime Minister Brian Faulkner invoked emergency powers to intern them indefinitely without trial. He said the raids were aimed at the outlawed IRA, which is dedicated to reuniting Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic by "bullet and bomb" if necessary.

"We are, quite simply, at war with the terrorists," Faulkner declared.

The reaction was swift and bloody—a wave of rioting, shooting and looting. British troops were the main targets for roaming bands of guerrillas armed with bombs, machine guns and automatic weapons.

"It's all-out war now," declared an IRA leader after a 25-year-old Republican officer was shot dead, witnesses said by a Protestant.

In Belfast, factories, stores and homes went up in flame.

More than 100 Protestant houses on the edge of the Catholic Ardoyne area burned as their occupants fled, clutching some possessions in their arms and loading furniture onto trucks and automobiles.

supplies to industries in the state by as much as 30 per cent for the past several weeks in order to build up a surplus for winter months. However, in its order Monday, the PSC limited curtailments to electric companies to 25 per cent of their needs from May through September, when their demands are the greatest, and 50 per cent the rest of the year.

Under the long-term contracts that were voided, industries have been buying gas from Arkla at rates ranging from about 26 cents per thousand cubic feet to 40 cents. The average homeowner is paying 60 cents or more per thousand cubic feet.

The PSC issued the unanimous order late Monday, saying the state could not "stand idly by" while old contracts between Arkla and its industrial customers dictated how the dwindling supply of natural gas was to be doled out to Arkansas customers.

The order, which completed the longest proceeding in the history of the PSC, affects the agreements 48 industries had negotiated with Arkla during the past several years. The order also places the firm's industrial users on a uniform tariff basis.

The PSC originally proposed that the long-term agreements be voided and Arkla supported the proposal. Arkla has said that rates set in the contracts were not sufficient to raise the money Arkla needs to finance exploration of new gas supplies, particularly in the Anadarko Basin in Oklahoma and Texas.

PSC Chairman Pat Moran said current rates will remain in effect until the PSC sets new tariffs. He said the commission would issue another order, possibly today, calling for a cost-of-service study to help determine what the tariff should be.

Moran said it had become apparent that the state's system of separate industrial gas supply contracts was not workable because of a shortage of natural gas supplies.

"This is evidenced by the fact that for the last several months, Arkla has been contractually committed to supply more gas than it has available," Moran said.

Moran said establishment of a uniform tariff system coupled with "anticipated approval" by the Federal Power Commission of Arkla's proposed Anadarko pipeline project and an upswing in the national economy "should place Arkansas in a favorable position in the very near future as far as the attraction of new industry is concerned."

"On the surface, the decision has a direct gas utility bearing on 48 separate contracts which our state's largest gas utility negotiated with certain of its industrial customers over the past several years," Moran said.

"Below the surface, however, the decision will have an indirect bearing on commercial and residential as well as industrial customers, which is to say that it affects all who light a stove or turn a light switch."

The PSC said in its order that the long-term contracts were negotiated and approved when there was no thought by Arkla, its customers or the commission "that the apparent abundant supply of gas would not continue into the indefinite future."

Thieu Gets Tough on Dope Dealers

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced today a tough emergency anti-drug bill that makes dealing in narcotics a wartime crime and decrees the death penalty for importers and peddlers belonging to organized rings.

In sending the bill to the National Assembly for discussion and vote under emergency procedures, Thieu said "the bill lays emphasis on rehabilitation of addicts," those considered the victims of drug dealers.

While Thieu did not say so, the bill apparently was the result of U.S. government pressure to deal with the drug problem. It appeared, however, to be directed not only against the supply of drugs to GIs but also against their growing use by Vietnamese young people.

Thieu declared that the bill was presented to the National Assembly "with a view to preserving public health with an ultimate end of saving the race."

"The present bill," he said in a statement, "evidences the determination of the Republic of Vietnam to eradicate the narcotics evil which is spreading at such a rate that is becoming a danger for mankind."

Thieu said the bill covers control of intoxicants, narcotics, opium, heroin and other dangerous drugs.

"In addition to increasing the penalties provided in the existing laws," Thieu said, "the present bill prescribes several new sanctions, especially harsh for people who peddle, import and illegally hoard narcotics—these people being considered as seeking to poison other people."

"The death penalty shall be ruled if the offender belongs to an organized group. The bill also provides for a special procedure to bring the case to court for urgent trial, as is the case for wartime crimes."

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command in Saigon announced that it is changing its policy of medical evacuation of all confirmed GI heroin users to insure complete followup treatment.

Under the new policy all confirmed hard drug users will be flown to the United States on military planes after they undergo detoxification at Cam Ranh Bay on South Vietnam's central coast.

Previously only patients who showed symptoms of advanced drug addiction and severe withdrawal were flown for further treatment to the United States on military aircraft.

Swiss franc equivalents of dollar sales in frozen accounts for 10 days.

The Swiss National Bank took this action to stem a large influx of "hot dollars" poured into Switzerland by speculators hoping to profit by a further weakening of the dollar on European markets. The Swiss Telegraph Agency estimated the national bank purchased $500 million before ordering the freeze.

Many European money dealers hope something will be done in line with a report issued Saturday in Washington by a House-Senate economics subcommittee. It said the dollar was overvalued and urged a realignment of its rate in relation to the currencies of the world's industrial nations.

On Monday, the price of gold bullion in London was fixed at $43.94 an ounce, the highest level in 2½ years. The gold price eased to $43.30 at this morning's fixing. The official price is $35 an ounce.

But London dealers predicted the level would not fall appreciably for these reasons: Demand for industrial gold has been on a continual rise, the French continue to build up their gold reserves and hot money that flowed into Switzerland was being converted into gold because the Swiss were not paying interest on short-term deposits.

Residency
Law Voided

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A panel of three federal judges has declared New York State's welfare residency law unconstitutional as a violation of the equal-protection clause in the 14th Amendment.

The office of state attorney Gen. Louis Lefkowitz in Albany said the decision would be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The panel returned an oral, 36-word decision Monday, five minutes after hearing final arguments on the law, which required a year's residency in the state before welfare benefits could be received.

The decision was announced by the ranking jurist on the panel, Judge Paul R. Hays of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

"We have decided to make the injunction permanent and not to issue an opinion in the case, but to decide the case for the position taken by the plaintiffs—that the statute is unconstitutional and must be enjoined," Hays said.

A temporary injunction against the residency requirement had been issued July 12 by Judge John T. Curtin in U.S. District Court, Buffalo.

In a formal order signed later Monday, the panel said the residency requirement was "unconstitutional under the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution."

A Connecticut residency law modeled on the New York State statute was declared unconstitutional July 29 in Hartford by another panel of three judges from the 2nd Circuit. That panel said the Connecticut law restricted citizens' rights to travel.

The New York law, advocated by Gov. Nison A. Rockefeller, went into effect July 1. It was challenged almost immediately by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of Pedro Lopez, a Puerto Rican with an epileptic wife and seven children.

most serious for American farmers, Palmbly said: "It could not hit the agricultural economy at a worse date."

Palmbly who oversees international affairs and commodity programs in the Agriculture Department is a key architect and administrator of U.S. farm policy.

Palmbly declined to predict in detail how a prolonged dock strike might affect this year's export value. In 1968-69 when Gulf and Eastern ports were tied up for nearly four months, U.S. farm exports dipped to $5.7 billion from $6.3 billion the year before.

Asked what might occur if exports drop severely, Palmbly said:

"Farm income is going to suffer, and it's going to suffer real bad. A 10-cent-a-bushel drop in the price of corn comes right out of the net income of farmers."

Laos Aid Is Justified,
U.S. Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says U.S. support of Thais fighting in Laos in violation of the 1962 Geneva Agreement is justified because of violations by North Vietnam.

In a statement issued Monday, the State Department said "some 80,000 North Vietnamese forces are not only directed against the neutral government of Laos, but also use the territory of Laos, the Ho Chi Minh Trail, to intervene" in South Vietnam.

The United States "is entitled to withhold complete compliance in light of this failure by the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam to honor its obligations," the State Department said.

The 1962 agreement, which both the United States and North Vietnam signed, established Laos as a neutral country and prohibited use of foreign troops on Laotian soil.

The department's statement was issued after controversy arose over the presence of Thai troops in Laos supported by U.S. funds.

The Washington Post reported Monday that Thai soldiers serving with CIA-supported irregular forces in Laos say they are regular Thai army troops.

serious, Palmbly said, overall crop forecasts are optimistic. Gross income from production the past year of four key crops—corn, soybeans, sorghum and wheat—reached an all-time high, he said.

Looking ahead to the 1971-72 marketing year, Palmbly said gross receipts are expected to rise again for producers of those crops, mostly from larger output.

But gross sales by farmers are only part of the story. Expenses, too, continue to rise and that means a bind on farm take-home pay, or net income. Thriving exports can mean higher prices and thus a wider margin between sales value and costs.

The Oct. 1 strike deadline for Gulf ports is particularly worrisome, Palmbly said, because it comes while fall crops of corn and other feed grain and soybeans are hitting the market.

"It's the price-depressing effect of a dock strike, and of a rail strike, for that matter, that really hurts producers," Palmbly said. "The whole matter of farm income is going to be determined by use, which includes exports."

Union Would Support Wage,
Price Controls

By TIM REITERMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council has pledged to support across-the-board federal wage and price controls if President Nixon deems them necessary to aid the economy.

"We are prepared to cooperate with mandatory government controls, if the President decides they are necessary, provided such controls are even-handed and across-the-board," AFL-CIO President George Meany declared Monday following a meeting of the 35-member council.

In a statement, the council opposed curbs on wages without some restraints on prices, profits, interest rates and other corporate income.

"Wages are only one factor in the cost of any products, and actions which would freeze only wages and not other cost factors would create economic chaos," the council said in a statement which Meany read to newsmen.

"As a result of 2½ years of gross mismanagement by the Nixon administration, the country is in an economic mess," it said. "We will do our patriotic duty, but we will not be the scapegoat for the economic failures of this administration."

About five million workers are unemployed and several million others are employed less than full time, because industry is operating at only 73 per cent of capacity, Meany said.

He said the executive council is calling for:

—Release of $12 billion in public works and other funds approved by Congress but frozen by Nixon.

—Full funding of government programs for low and moderate income housing, education, health care and pollution controls.

—An increase in the federal minimum wage to at least $2 an hour.

—Lowered interest rates to increase money and credit to expand the economy.

The executive council also issued a statement urging the Nixon administration to reject tax programs which "erode" federal tax revenue and "move the tax structure further away from the principle of ability to pay."

Meany said some administration spokesmen don't seem to realize "what unemployment means to a fellow who's out of work and has to support a family."

"They're full of talk about how things are going to get better," the labor leader said. "I can't sell that to my membership."

Strike Turns Cemetery Into Wasteland

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The once well-manicured rolling green hillside cemeteries of Colma have turned into a strikebound brown wasteland since greenskeepers and gravediggers walked off their jobs more than nine weeks ago.

Colma, a town of 500 just south of San Francisco that makes its living by burying 10,000 people each year, has seen its 13 cemeteries become overgrown by weeds and littered with trash.

"It's no good," said Ernest Martens, who is trying to keep his wife's grave green. "I am sorry. Once first class, now look, all around."

Martens' work was like an emerald isle in a sea of brown grass.

"When the strike is over, they'll have to reseed the whole cemetery," said Miguel Irizarry, who was watering a neat hedge-trimmed plot.

San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto called a meeting today between representatives of the 235-member Cemetery Workers Union and operators of Colma's cemeteries.

The meeting will be the second between the two groups since the walkout began June 3. An earlier meeting was termed "a waste of time" by a mediator from the San Francisco Labor Council.

Union officials are seeking an increase of $6 a day over current base pay of $34.20, plus fringe benefit improvements. Since the strike began, more than 1,000 bodies have been stored to await burial.

Bumpers Seeks Solution at Marianna

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ozell Sutton, community relations specialist with the Justice Department, met with Gov. Dale Bumpers Monday to discuss possible solutions to racial problems in Marianna.

Robert Whitfield, state director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, reported after the meeting that Bumpers was prepared to send a mediation team to Marianna if both sides were willing to accept mediation.

"I'm trying to use our good offices to get the people together to talk," Bumpers told newsmen. "Obviously, the problem won't be resolved in the foreseeable future unless men of good will sit down and talk."

Bumpers said some blacks and whites met Saturday. Whitfield said Sheriff Courtney Langston of Lee County and Marianna Mayor John Oxner were among the four whites attending the meeting.

Sutton said that at the moment his primary concern was "law enforcement" which he said was a "prerequisite to negotiation."

Racial tensions have arisen in Marianna as a result of a boycott that blacks have been conducting against merchants. The blacks have made several demands, including jobs for Negroes.

Violence broke out last week when several newsmen were told by whites to leave town. One newsmen said he was kicked by one of the whites.

"I'm going to use all the power of this (governor's) office necessary to prevent violence," Bumpers said. He said that included "moral suasion" and the sending of more State Police to Marianna if they are needed.

The governor said his first responsibility was to maintain the peace and that alternatives at this time were "very limited."

India Blames
U.S. for Pact
With Russia

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — "Wouldn't you say Washington pushed us into it?" an Indian diplomat said of the new friendship treaty India and the Soviet Union signed in New Delhi Monday.

He cited continued U.S. aid to the Pakistani army during the East Pakistan crisis and President Nixon's plans to visit Communist China, signalling the possibility of an American understanding with a country India regards as an adversary.

Senior Indian diplomats said their government hopes the treaty will prove to be a deterrent to both Pakistan and Red China.

They said a draft of the treaty was prepared as long ago as 1969 and that the text signed Monday by Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko and Swarn Singh differed only marginally from the original draft.

The new confrontation with Pakistan and President Nixon's overtures to Communist China combined to push the Indians into a decision to sign the treaty, the diplomats said. New Delhi sent D.P. Dhar, a former ambassador to the Soviet Union, to Moscow secretly last week. After four days of talks, Gromyko's visit to India was announced, but there was no inkling that the treaty was in the offing.

The announcement of the pact Mondah was as much of a surprise to the Pakistani government of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan as it was to everyone else. It had no immediate comment, but informed sources in Rawalpindi said it invited Gromyko to visit on the way home from New Delhi.

Official American reaction came from Secretary of State William P. Rogers who said he hoped the new pact would have "an effect for the good." He met with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to discuss U.N. relief operations in East Pakistan and among the seven million East Pakistani refugees in India. But Rogers denied he had discussed political aspects of the Indian-Pakistani situation with Thant.

British newspaper foresaw ominous possibilities as a result of the pact. The Guardian suggested it might tempt the Indian army and East Pakistani rebels in Calcutta to attack the Pakistani army in the East. The Daily Telegraph questioned whether Pakistan and China would counter with a similar pact and whether Russia would "take over from the West the main burden of economic aid to India."

In 1936 mail carriers were allowed two cents for each letter and one cent for each newspaper they delivered.

Hope Star SPORTS

Stan Lee Too Good for Ark.

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—At the age of 18, golfer Stan Lee is too good for Arkansas.

He has beaten the state's best players, week after week; beaten them at match play and stroke play, on all types of courses.

The Heber Springs youngster won the state stroke play tournament on the demanding Pleasant Valley Country Club course; the Fourth of July on the short, frustrating War Memorial Park layout; the state match play title on the tricky Hot Springs Country Club course and the Rosswood Invitational on the long Rosswood Country Club course.

Some say he'll have to compete against the top college players to improve but Lee has chosen a different route.

"I'm going back to SCA (State College of Arkansas at Conway)," he said. "The reason being I've come this far pretty much on my own, with the help of pro Dave Bennett. If you want to be good you can get better."

Lee is aware that most of young professionals on the tour are products of the colleges with top-flight golf programs.

"I believe if you've got what it takes, you can make it," Lee said. "I'm not saying I do, but I'm going to give it all I got."

His plans call for three or four national amateur tournaments next summer.

"I want to be able to play good every week," he said. "Not good at Rosswood, bad at Searcy and good in the state tournament. I'd like to improve next year as much as I have this year."

Lee explains his third-place showing at Searcy by saying he was not in the proper "mental state." For one thing, he was swinging bad; for another, he was almost bored.

After Saturday's round at Searcy, Lee drove back to Heber Springs and persuaded Bennett to take a look at his swing.

"He watched me hit about 30 shots and told me what I was doing wrong ... I was over-swinging," Lee said. "Monday, I hit about 1,000 balls and on Tuesday I hit about 500 and played 27 holes."

When Lee went to Hot Springs, he was ready for the match play tournament.

"I wanted to win that more than any other one," he said. "I was the defending champion and nobody had ever won the match play and the stroke play tournament in one year."

Lee played 114 holes at Hot Springs and was nine under par.

Monday, he was back on the practice tee at the Red Apple Country Club.

"I played about nine holes and then when I see what I'm doing wrong, I practice on what I need to," he said. "I practice chipping and putting for about 45 minutes and then I hit shag balls until it gets dark. If I'm playing real well I may play 27 holes and hit 200 or 300 balls. If I'm playing bad, I may hit as many as 800."

Lee believes the fact that he has laid off the four-ball tournaments has helped his game.

"Four-ball tournaments are bad for your game," he said. "I just can't get interested in them. You hit a bad shot and you figure your partner will pull you through."

Lee earned a golf scholarship to Houston University but dropped out in the middle of his freshman year and enrolled at SCA.

Swimmers Taking Top Honors

By JERRY LISK

Associated Press Sports Writer

CALL, Columbia (AP)—The United States' somewhat surprising men's swimming squad, buoyed by a world record performance from its 800-meter freestyle relay team, appeared ready to mop up with a virtual sweep of Pan American gold medals.

With only two events left to-day and two more on tomorrow's closing program, Uncle Sam's under-rated natators already have grabbed 10 of 11 possible gold medals, the brightest gleaming from last night's world mark smashing by a quartet of swift freestylers, anchored by illustrious Frank Heckl.

Heckl, Southern California star, grabbed his third gold medal as he put the frosting on the cake of a 7:45.8 victory which clipped 2.2 seconds from the one-year-old world record of 7:48.08 by a USA team at Tokyo last Aug. 28.

This was supposed to be a somewhat patchwork USA crew of mermen lacking top stars of NCAA champion Indiana and several other collegiate aces who skipped Cali to concentrate on the National AAU meet this month.

But led by triple gold medal winner Heckl and high school graduate Steve Furniss of Santa Ana, Calif., winner of the 200 and 400 individual medley, and freestyler Jim McConica, Heckl's Trojan teammate, the USA swimmers yielded only one gold medal—to Ecuador's Jorge Delgado in the 200 butterfly.

As the Pan Am program began shrinking nearing Friday's formal closing ceremony, three sports bowed out last night, with the USA's shapely synchronized swimming team from San Francisco completing a sweep of three gold medals, taking the final eight-gal team competition.

The 11-class boxing tournament ended with two gold medals.

Dodgers Gaining on Giants

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Twenty years ago Wednesday, the New York Giants trailed the Brooklyn Dodgers by 13½ games in the race for the National League pennant. The Giants then reeled off 13 consecutive victories and eventually beat the Dodgers 5-4 on Bob Thomson's dramatic three-run homer in the ninth inning of the third game of a three-game playoff.

Today, the roles—and the teams' locations—are different. The Dodgers, now playing in Los Angeles, are in second place ... but they are moving up fast on the fading Giants of San Francisco.

Monday night, the Dodgers sliced San Francisco's National League West lead to 4½ games—the smallest margin since July 7—with a 6-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Gibson.

In the only other major league game Monday, an American League afternoon contest, the Boston Red Sox outslugged the Detroit Tigers 12-11.

The Dodgers, who have trimmed the Giants lead in half since falling nine games back on Aug. 1, blasted Cardinal pitching for 15 hits, including four each by Wes Parker and Willie Davis.

The Dodgers, one of the few teams to hold a lifetime edge over Gibson, pounded the Cards' ace for 14 hits in seven innings in beating him for the third straight time this season and the 20th time in 34 career decisions.

Parker doubled following a Cardinal error in the second inning, before Duke Sims belted a two-run double. After the Cards tied it on Dal Maxvill's two-run single in the bottom of the second, the Dodgers again took a two-run lead in the third on singles by Bill Buckner, Davis, Willie Crawford and Parker.

Davis singled home a run in the fourth, and Parker doubled in the seventh and scored the final Los Angeles run on a single by Al Downing. The Cards added a run in the third, and Ted Sizemore singled in two more runs in the eighth before Jim Brewer came in and preserved Downing's 14th victory.

Richie Allen was a late scratch from the Dodger lineup for the second time this season. Allen, the club leader in runs batted in, overslept and didn't get to the ballpark until the start of the game.

Rico Petrocelli, making his first pinch hitting appearance of the season after being given a rest, capped the wild Boston-Detroit slugfest with a run-scoring single in the ninth inning. The hit was the 33rd in the game and scored John Kennedy, who had doubled.

Rookie catcher Bob Montgomery drove in six Boston runs with a two-run double in the second and his first major league grand slam homer during an eight-run fourth.

Detroit's Bill Freehan drilled three solo homers, Willie Horton smashed two homers and drove in five runs, and Aurelio Rodriguez cracked a solo homer.

The game was enlivened by a melee in the sixth inning when Detroit reliever Bill Denney hit Boston outfielder Reggie Smith with a pitch on his back just below the right shoulder. The two exchanged words as Smith headed towards first base, with Freehan, the Detroit catcher, standing between them. Then, Smith threw a punch over Freehan's shoulder that just missed Denney, causing both dugouts and bullpens to empty. But there was no further trouble.

free wrestling arena where eventually the USA produced four gold medal winners in Bon Behm, Lansing, Mich., bantamweight, Dan Gable, stellar lightweight from Waterloo, Iowa, and Sergio Gonzalez, a light flyweight from Placentia, Calif., and David Pruzansky, Passaic, N.J., featherweight.

And the lights went out at the basketball hall with four minutes left before the USA women's team was to rally for a 57-54 victory over Mexico to pump its record to 4-1 for a good gold medal chance.

With competition virtually ending Thursday, the USA currently has a bag of 90 gold

NY Giants Lose Fran Tarkenton

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pro football lost its second glamor quarterback in less than 48 hours Monday afternoon, when New York Giants signal-caller Frank Tarkenton left the club and returned to his Atlanta home because he could not reach a contract agreement with owner Wellington T. Mara.

"I can't play football without a contract," Tarkenton said Monday night. "Nothing else is involved except the contract. I cannot accept the offer they made me."

Tarkenton, 31, reportedly earned $100,000 in 1970, when he led the Giants to a 9-5 season, their best since 1963.

Tarkenton joins New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath on the sidelines. Namath continued to recuperate at New York's Lenox Hill Hospital following surgery Sunday morning to repair torn ligaments and remove damaged cartilage in his left knee.

Dr. James A. Nicholas, the Jets' team physician and the orthopedist who has performed all four of Namath's knee operations, speculated that Namath might be able to return to action for the Jets' game against the Baltimore Colts Nov. 14.

"It's earlier than we'd like him back," Dr. Nicholas said. "The longer you give a thing like this, the better it will be in the long run."

"But if our game with the Colts on the 14th is a must type of thing, I don't think there would be any way of keeping Joe out of it."

Tarkenton could be back on the playing field long before Nov. 14. He emphasized that he is by no means retiring. "I didn't care to play the exhibition season without a contract," he declared.

Does he want to play football this year?

"I wouldn't have gone to camp if I didn't," he replied.

Mara, the Giants' owner, revealed that Tarkenton had asked for "a high, six-figure loan" for his various business and philanthropic enterprises as part of his contract.

"The loan is the real stumbling block," Mara said at a news conference in Houston. "I tried to work it out, but my legal advisers told me there was no way we could do it."

Whenever Tarkenton returns, it will not be soon enough for Giants' Coach Alex Webster, judging from the team's exhibition opener against the Houston Oilers Monday night in the Astrodome. Houston scored two quick touchdowns before the hometown fans, built up a 21-3 lead by halftime, then coasted to a 35-6 romp over the Giants.

Houston's wide receiver Charley Joiner caught eight passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns, one a 56-yarder from veteran Charlie Johnson, the second a 19-yarder from rookie Lynn Dickey.

With Tarkenton out of action, veteran Dick Shiner did most of the quarterbacking for New York, whose offense could manage only two Pete Gogolak field goals.

In Monday night's other preseason contest the Philadelphia Eagles turned two blocked punts to their advantage and defeated the Oakland Raiders 25-24 in a West Coast game.

Linebacker Bill Hobs blocked two of Mike Elscheid's punt attempts. The first went through the end zone for a safety, and the second went for a touchdown when linebacker Ike Kelley fell on the ball in the end zone.

Eagles' quarterback Pete Liske threw a TD pass to Lee Bougess and rookie Happy Feller kicked three field goals completing the winners' scoring.

Oakland scored on three touchdown passes by Ken Stabler, filling in for injured Darley Lamonica. Two went to El-dridge Dickey, and the other to Clarence Davis. George Blanda kicked a field goal for the Raiders' final three points.

Tarkenton was not the only NFL veteran to leave his team Monday. Green Bay Coach Dan Devine lost starting offensive tackle Francis Peay, when the five-year veteran walked out of camp after an argument with Packer assistant coaches.

"I'm extremely disappointed that Francis has chosen to disassociate himself from the squad," Devine, who coached

Safety Program for Hunters

SPECIAL NEWS RELEASE
by Charles Burton

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission announces a district Hunter Safety Training Program for Arkansas Hunters and prospective hunters of this area to be conducted by Jack Reed, Hunter Safety Coordinator.

The instruction program for both adult and youthful hunters in Lafayette, Miller, Little River, Hempstead, Sevier, and Howard counties will be conducted from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on August 16, 1971 at Miller Co. Court House (Court Room), 4th & Laurel Streets, Texarkana. This will be one of fourteen such Hunter Safety Programs being conducted by the Game and Fish Commission throughout the state during the period of August 16 through September 10.

Upon the satisfactory completion of the Hunter Safety Course, participants will be issued identification cards showing the completion of the Arkansas Hunter Safety Course of Instruction. Many states require the course of instruction in Hunter Safety prior to the purchase of their state hunting permit.

According to Reed, the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission would like for every hunter, of any age, to have the opportunity to participate in a Hunter Safety course of instruction. This will require the assistance of many adult hunters in each county who will be willing to devote their time and knowledge to give hunter safety instruction to the young hunters in their area. Prospective volunteer instructors from each county will be interviewed by Reed at the meeting and will be issued packets of materials and tests for becoming Certified Hunter Safety Instructors.

All area hunters are urged to attend this meeting to assist in the development of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission's state-wide Hunter Safety Program.

Politics Dominate PanAm Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
CALI, Colombia (AP) — Sometimes it appears old Avery Brundage may be right. The crusty curmudgeon from Chicago, long-time president of the International Olympic Committee, is constantly warning that the big international sports spectacles, such as the Olympic Games and the Pan American Games nearing completion here, are in danger of being instruments of national aggrandizement.

The individual athlete, he says, is becoming a subordinate to the emphasis on medals and national sports success. The games, he adds, are festering with politics, propaganda, hypocrisy and professionalism. Who can deny it?

His dire predictions have come to pass in the current PanAm Games, already marked by a death, defections from the Cuban camp, charges and counter-charges of spy networks and some chagrin on the part of the powerful United States that its basketball team should be so rudely ejected from the tournament—particularly as the result of alleged point-shaving by the Brazilian team.

Who invented basketball, anyway? It wasn't Josef Stalin or Fidel Castro. It was a mild-mannered Massachusetts professor with a couple of peach baskets named James A. Naismith.

But chaos and controversy are not new to these international sports carnivals where the aim—as enunciated by Baron de Coubertin of France, father of the modern olympics—is not whether you win or lose but whether you try to achieve.

The realistic, present-day world has found such platitudes to be pure corn.

The Olympic movement has seethed with controversy and overemphasis on nationalism since it began in ancient Greece in 77 B.C., only to be discontinued when Emperor

Nero of Rome used bribery and intimidation to win honors for himself.

In 1936, Adolf Hitler spent millions on the games at Berlin to flaunt the Aryan race. When Jesse Owens, America's great black athlete, won four gold medals, der Fuhrer turned his back and refused to watch the victory ceremonies.

Idled by World War II in 1940 and 1944, the games resumed in ravaged and impoverished London in 1948, where enmities were still found to be deep and bitter. Some Czech and Hungarian athletes refused to return to their Iron Curtain countries.

In 1952, at Helsinki, the Soviet Union entered the games for the first time with a powerful Communist force that it kept isolated miles from the Olympic Village. The USA and Russia engaged in a giant war of medals.

The Russians saturated the Finnish capital with NKVD men, feared secret police identifiable by their sinister black hats and gleaming steel teeth.

The Melbourne Olympics in 1956 coincided with the abortive revolt by Hungary and its suppression by Soviet troops. The Hungarians and Russians met in water polo in the first round and the water was streaked with the players' blood.

The Netherlands, Switzerland and Spain pulled out of the games because of the Russian aggression. Egypt, Lebanon and Iraq withdrew, then Israel and Egypt went to war and France and England grabbed the Suez Canal.

South Africa was barred from the 1964 games at Tokyo because of its apartheid policies and a boycott of the 1968 games at Mexico City by Communist and many African nations was threatened when South Africa was restored to good standing in 1968 only to be banished again.

Just before the 1968 games, Russian troops marched into Czechoslovakia, bringing a freeze in relations between those two Communist countries and provoking Emile Zatopek, the Czech's great triple medalist of 1952, to cry openly and sharply criticize the Soviets.

U.S. black athletes used the games as a forum to denounce what they called racial injustices in the United States and two black U.S. sprinters—Tommy Smith and John Carlos—created an international incident by raising clenched, black-glove fists on the victory stand.

Brundage is perhaps unrealistic in his attitude on amateurism—some day it won't matter where a man's money comes from so long as he can run, jump and throw—but his fears on super-nationalism appear well-grounded.

The U.S. State Department must itself wonder about the value in international good will of sending giant teams to events such as the PanAm Games and overpowering the little Latin nations with their hungry grab of medals.

When the Star Spangled Banner plays ever half-hour and U.S. athletes go to the victory stand in an almost unending parade, the smaller, weaker countries seem to resent—rather than admire—it. And they lift a few cheers to Cuba—salutes not to communism but to the little underdog, a reaction popular also in the United States.

The room is part of the royal apartment in London's Westminster Palace, home of the Houses of Commons and Lords. It is empty every day except the one day a year when the queen attends the state opening

Fishing Gear in Brief Case

By ED DE MOCH
AP Business Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Have you ever dreamed of sneaking past your boss with your fishing gear so you could get a quick start on a vacation or a week-end without arousing comment? One fishing equipment manufacturer has made it possible.

Among dozens of new products displayed at the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers Association annual trade show was a seemingly ordinary attache case.

In fitted compartments were a four-piece spin-casting rod and reel, an open-face spinning reel and four-piece rod, plus several spools of monofilament line.

The case and equipment will sell for around $100 when it reaches the market later this year.

Most of the new products shown at the four-day convention—for the trade only—will be available to the public in future weeks. There were only a few spanking new products, most being new versions or improved types of old lines.

Dozens of new baits and lures were shown in soft and hard plastic materials as well as metal.

There were floating types, luminous and plain, and some with small propellers and other metallic gimmicks.

One new lure exudes a fish-appealing scented substance when it's been in the water a few minutes. The scent in the lure will last one season, the manufacturer says.

There were several new electronic water depth and temperature rigs; power driven fish scalers; power driven ice cutters for the winter fishing enthusiast; inflatable rafts, kayaks, speed and sail boats; camping equipment; firearms and other hunting needs; and dozens of other accessories for outdoor living, recreation and sports.

A Delphi, La., manufacturer displayed a 15-foot fiberglass boat with three upholstered swivel seats, power steering, a foot-controlled trolling motor, and with a live bait well and ice chest, rod holders and built-in storage space.

Its selling price with a 65-horsepower motor, around $2,500 "in 1972."

San Diego 4-3 Over Texas

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The San Diego Padres of the National League erupted for three runs in the sixth inning and went on to a 4-3 victory over the Texas League All-Stars in an exhibition baseball game Monday night in Albuquerque.

The Padres trailed 1-0 until the fifth inning when Clarence Gaston stroked a run-scoring single to tie the game.

Then San Diego jumped on Arkansas' Jack Stripling for its three runs in the sixth on a single by catcher Fred Kendall, which broke the 1-1 tie, and a two-run single by shortstop Tommy Dean.

The All-Stars threatened to tie the game up in the ninth inning as Enos Cabell of Dallas-Fort Worth beat out an infield single and Memphis' Jim Plant doubled him home with no one out. However, reliever Al Severinsen of San Diego retired the next three men in a row.

Plant hit a homerun in the seventh inning for the All-Stars. Jorge Roque of Arkansas accounted for the first All-Stars run with a double in the first inning.

Tom Phoebux, who pitched two-hit ball for the first six innings, was the winner while Stripling took the loss.

Trevino Undergoes Appendectomy

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — Golfer Lee Trevino was reported in good condition today after undergoing an emergency appendectomy performed at St. Anne's Hospital here.

Trevino, professional golfer's lead money winner this year, was stricken Monday evening after returning from Socorro where he held a clinic at the New Mexico Junior PGA Tournament.

The operation was performed by Dr. D. E. Stoops of Truth Or Consequences, and Dr. Leonard R. Becker of Albuquerque. Surgery began about 2:30 a.m., EDT, and lasted about 1½ hours.

"He's doing very well. He tolerated surgery very well," Dr. Stoops commented early today. He said Trevino would be hospitalized about one week.

The El Paso, Tex., native was visiting the area to do some fishing but took the time to give some instructions to the young golfers.

Trevino has won $197,219 in PGA events this year, and also captured the United States, British and Canadian Open titles. He won the three tournaments within a period of four weeks.

Since the British event, his playing has been off and just two weeks ago failed to make the cut at the Westchester Classic in New York. At that time he said he was tired and planned on taking a short rest which included some plans to spend time fishing.

Wants $250,000 School Grant

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Supt. J. K. Williams of the Pulaski County School District said Monday that the district hopes to get about $250,000 in federal funds to enrich the educational programs in schools affected by the recent desegregation order.

Williams said the district was notified last week that it was eligible for the funds under the Emergency School Assistance Program. He said application to the federal Health, Education and Welfare Department for the funds must be in by Friday.

Williams said the funds are available to school districts that are "in the last stages of desegregation."

Questions Still Linger After Paige

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — How good a pitcher was LeRoy "Satchel" Paige in his prime, when the doors to major league baseball were closed to him because his skin was black?

The question lingers in the aftermath of Paige's induction Monday into Baseball's Hall of Fame. And it may never be answered to the satisfaction of all since Paige didn't pitch in the majors until he was 42.

But Frank Forbes, a member of the special committee that elected Paige to the Hall of Fame and the umpire in chief of the Negro league during Paige's prime, offers this estimate of ol' Satchel's ability:

"In his prime he would have been an easy 30-game winner in the majors—easy. It's almost impossible to even think anybody ever was as good.

"When he hooked up on the tour with major leaguers there was no contest. Even Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams said he was the best. The most amazing thing about him was that he was a smart pitcher. He had everything a pitcher should."

It's a far more subjective judgment than the few statistics on Paige's bronze Hall of Fame plaque, which records his 28-31 won-lost record in the majors but is unable to cite any of his exploits during two decades of Negro league stardom.

But even as the major leagues ignored Paige during his prime, Paige subconsciously returned the snub.

"I didn't have any dreams about Cooperstown," said Paige as he stood hands on hips on the steps of the baseball library at the formal induction ceremonies. And he elaborated afterwards by noting: "I knew I could throw harder than anyone around until 1942—and that was for 25 years. I had a world of my own. They didn't want me; it didn't make no difference to me."

But Monday made a difference and Paige left no doubt about that when he said:

"I am the proudest man on earth today."

Paige's induction as the first of the pre-1947 stars of the Negro leagues to be elected to the Hall of Fame overshadowed the induction of seven other new members, bringing to 126 the number of baseball immortals enshrined here.

The others inducted were pitcher Rube Marquard, first baseman Jake Beckley, shortstop Dave Bancroft, outfielders Chick Hefey, Harry Hooper and Joe Kelley and longtime executive George Weiss, whose career with the New York Yankees spanned 19 pennant winners.

Team Quits Over Legion Hair Rule

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A 14-man teen-age baseball squad voted to forfeit its remaining games in an American Legion Baseball Tournament Sunday after a tournament official ordered eight of the youths to get haircuts or shave.

Cliff Meade, the tournament director, inspected the players on the Orlando Post 19 and St. Petersburg Post 14 teams as they stood at attention for the pregame ceremonies.

After the game, which St. Petersburg won 6-1, Mead appeared in the Orlando dugout, made another inspection and said eight of the team members needed haircuts or sideburn trims before they could play in the second round Monday.

Seagraves said his team, all high school seniors this fall, voted to forfeit because they wanted to keep their locks for the opening of school.

"The thing that gets me is that Meade has a big mustache under his nose," Seagrave said. "The kids' hair is moderate and neat. It's just the way all kids wear it."

Meade said he was merely enforcing a Legion rule that said competitors in the tournament cannot have long hair. He said the rule did not specify what the proper length should be but left it up to the tournament director to decide.

determined was a mild heart attack.

Moss said he was uncertain how long a new battery of tests on Corona would take.

PRO CHARTS

American Conference: Western Division
OAKLAND RAIDERS

PROSPECTUS—Four years on top and still unfilled, which makes for frantic frustration. Or how're they going to keep Daryl Lamonica healthy all the way through a championship game? The Raiders'll be right up there again because this organization is too sound for sudden collapse. And agile Al Davis never stands pat with his old hands (George Blanda excepted) as the front office dynamo—could even be best Raider team yet.

Offense

PASSING —Lamonica, the mad bomber, gets priority through seniority, but there's a sleeper standby—no, not Blanda, but slick southpaw Kenny Stabler. Rating—A.

RUNNING—Closest thing to a fixture is versatile Charlie Smith. As gray-beard, Hewitt Dixon could have been had by other clubs for right price, which indicates young bruiser Marv Hubbard's just about ready to take over. For spot halfback duty, rookie Clarence Davis is a threat. Rating—B.

RECEIVING—If they could get psychiatrist fast enough to keep up with Warren Wells on pass patterns, all troubles would be solved. At least, it would keep Wells out of trouble. Passing grabbing top-notch on all fronts — Fred Biletnikoff, slick but not fast, at other wide spot, with Rod Sherman and young Drew Buie for depth: Raymond Chester almost awesome in potential at tight end, and another good one coming in, Bob Moore. Rating—A.

LINE—One of best around, especially with addition of two of finest tackles in modern pro history, Robert Brown and Ron Mix. Not going to tamper much in middle, where center Jim Otto, guard Gene Upshaw are all-pro types, and Jim Harvey's not far behind. Rating—A.

PREDICTION

Got to stick with Raiders. They retain incentive. First in West.

PERSONAL FINANCE
The conventional precaution for many homeowners before departing on vacations has been to notify police.

Some may be having second thoughts about the security of this procedure because of the occasional reports of police complicity in burglaries. A District Court case in Washington, D.C., for example, charges that one policeman simply ran down the list of absentees, noted the addresses of prominent individuals and handed the tip sheet to professional burglars.

It is unlikely that the same thing would happen to you, although no one can guarantee it won't. It is still a good idea to inform the police. In most small cities and towns, cruising patrol cars can act as a prime deterrent to petty vandals and give even professional thieves something to think about.

In addition to notifying police, there are a number of things you ought to consider normal defensive procedures when you're leaving home for an extended stay. Some are old stuff; others are not:

Tell the Milk Man — Probably no advice is so frequently published as the admonition to stop the flow of milk to your door. You may think delivery will be cut off promptly in any case once it's obvious that no one has touched the bottles delivered yesterday. Don't be too sure.

Doorsteps lined with bottles of milk — all soured — may not be common, but what about other deliveries? The typical paperboy, for example, will litter an entire lawn with sun-bleached and soggy newspapers without so much as batting an eye.

Turn on a Light—It doesn't take a very smart burglar to know that a house in which only the kitchen light burns — night and day — is a house where no one's home. Almost as bad is the $6.95 timer that faithfully turns on the same bulb at the same time.

Instead, blow 20 bucks for three timers and set them so they illuminate different parts of the house at different times. And be sure to plug a radio (with good volume) into the timer, too.

Clutter It Up — Nothing tips off a vacant house like the absence of junk lying around. All the lawn chairs are put away, no bikes or toys are in evidence, and garbage cans are often stored in the garage.

It's normal enough to pick up before you leave, but don't overdo it. A butt-sprung lawn chair, a garden hose coiled in the driveway, and a rusty tricycle in the sideyard have the look of authentic daily living.

Hire a Watchman — Nothing will discourage a burglar more than a house with a star boarder. More and more, the profession known as house-sitting is becoming popular.

House-sitting is usually an informal arrangement. Young people — frequently college students — can be enticed into living in your digs while you're away. They water the plants, walk the dog and generally keep the place humming.

House-sitters usually come cheap. Often they will look after the place just for the sake of having it to themselves for two or three weeks.

Jesus then said to the Jews who had believed in him, "If you continue in my word, you are truly my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free."—John 8:31, 32.

Truth is tough; it will not break like a bubble, at a touch, nay, you may kick it

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Abstinence Not Necessary
By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband and I are in our early 20s. Because he is still in school, pregnancy is quite undesirable. We've been married a year and a half. For the first year, we used temperature rhythm. Now I'm using the Pill, which I take for 21 days and am off for seven days. My doctor told me that, to be sure of avoiding pregnancy, we should abstain for those seven days while I'm not taking the Pill (during menstruation). This is no better than rhythm. My friends say my doctor is overcautious. Must we abstain now? I'm so confused.

Dear Reader—If you wanted to be absolutely sure, you could abstain all the time. In truth, most physicians do not think it is necessary to abstain during the seven-day period you are not taking the Pill.

The birth-control pill works by taking it regularly 20 or 21 days in succession (depending on type) and then stopping the pill seven days, for the menstrual period. By using the pill regularly in this manner, ovulation is prevented. The hormone in the pill that prevents this is similar to the natural hormone the woman produces during pregnancy, to prevent additional ova from being released and causing multiple pregnancies.

The Pill is considerably

Barbs From the Bench
On trial for burglary, the defendant was trying to explain why he had been observed near the scene of the crime at three o'clock in the morning. But the judge was skeptical.

"Honest people," he said caustically, "are in bed at three o'clock in the morning."

By Oswald & James Jacoby
South looked at dummy with a jaundiced eye. He thought rather unhappily about how his partner had punished him for overcalling with only a four-card suit. Not that South's overcall was really bad. Everyone has made worse overcalls every day of the week.

Then South started to take stock to see if he could save anything from the wreckage. He could see five losers outside the trump suit. The best he could hope for would be to get out for minus 500 points.

What could the enemy make in spades. South was looking at three aces. If trumps were going to divide 2-2 his partner's king of trumps would be enough to set four spades.

Since the game was match-point duplicate, South noted that if hearts divided 3-1 there would be a lot of East-West pairs bidding and making four spades for a score of 620. In that case, while minus 500 would not be anything to write home about, it would be a respectable score. So South decided to play the hand for a 3-1 trump split.

He reviewed the bidding and decided that East was likely to be short. As soon as he got the lead he played his ace of trumps, continued with the jack and fanned. He got out for minus 500 and a fair score.

better than the rhythm method in preventing pregnancy. There is quite a bit more irregularity of the menstrual cycle than is often appreciated. One study points out that only about 30 per cent of women are sufficiently regular to use the rhythm method satisfactorily as a means of birth control. The birth-control pills make a woman regular.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have a brother who is an alcoholic. He has an ulcer and two years ago started having epileptic seizures. This happens only after he has been drinking for a month or so. He will not seek medical help. What I would like to know is why this happens only when he stops drinking. Could these seizures be fatal if he does not get help? Also, what could I do to help?

Dear Reader—It is possible that your brother's convulsions are from epilepsy, but they may well be what we call "rum fits," or alcoholic epilepsy. These usually occur within 48 hours after stopping alcohol and often precede the development of delirium tremens, a dangerous development in the long road of alcoholism.

The body develops a physiological dependence on alcohol and heavy drinkers have to have the alcohol gradually removed. Stopping alcohol in a person who really drinks a lot should be accomplished under a physician's supervision because of this problem.

If your brother won't see a doctor, you might contact the Alcoholics Anonymous Assn. and ask them for help. Someone might be able to talk to him and help get him to a doctor and into an active program. The U.S. Public Health Service is now establishing a number of alcoholic treatment centers and, if one happens to be in your locality, perhaps they can give you some suggestions.

Egypt Calls Home 3 Top Diplomats

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has called home its diplomatic representatives from Washington, Moscow and the United Nations for "important consultations" on Middle East questions, it was reported today.

Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad will lead the sessions with U.N. Ambassador Hassan el Zayatt, Moscow Ambassador Murad Ghaled and Ashraf Ghorbel, who heads the Egyptian interests section of the Indian Embassy in Washington.

No further details were available, but the talks appeared aimed at planning for the opening of the U.N. General Assembly next month.

Over the weekend Cairo newspapers said Egypt may take the Middle East conflict back to the United Nations because the United States has failed in its efforts to bring about an interim peace settlement.

The Cairo weekly Rose Al Youssef reported Monday that the United States is doing its best to stop Egypt from doing this.

President Anwar Sadat has set Sunday as a deadline for the United States "to clearly define its stand" in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Kremlin leaders were reported to have sent a special message to Sadat amid signs of tension in what until recently have been amicable Soviet-Arab relations.

The Soviet message, according to the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran, was delivered Monday to the Egyptian presidential affairs minister Mohamed Ahmed, by the Soviet charge d'affaires in Cairo, Ambassador Vladimir Vinogradov is currently "vacationing" in Moscow, according to the paper's report.

No other details were given, but the message is believed connected with the current Soviet-Arab friction over recent events in Sudan following a Communist-inspired coup which failed.

Fish Kill May Bring Suit

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Deputy Pros. Atty. Richard Byrd of Pine Bluff says he expects to decide by the end of the week whether to file charges in connection with the killing of about 14,000 fish last month in a 10-mile area of Plum Bayou.

Byrd said Monday he had received a report of the incident from the state Pollution and Ecology Department and that he was reviewing the report.

James H. McHaney, an attorney for the agency, says the agency believes charges should be filed.

A state Game and Fish Commission report said the kill area began at a point along the bayou where a number of containers of weed poison were discovered on a farmer's land.

Assurance Sought by Cambodia

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia's acting prime minister is expected to ask President Nixon today for assurances an Indo-China cease-fire or peace settlement would not leave his country threatened by the presence of Communist North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces.

Lt. Gen. Sisowath Sirik Matak, who has headed the Cambodian government since Gen. Lon Nol was stricken by a paralytic stroke last February, was scheduled to meet Nixon at the White House this morning.

Sirik Matak arrived without fanfare Monday night aboard a special Air Force plane, planning a 19-day visit.

Concern over Cambodia's future has been expressed repeatedly by his government. Cambodian officials fear any Indo-China agreement that does not take into account the fact Communist Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces now control one-third of Cambodia.

Any solution, these officials say, should provide for removal of those forces.

In addition to Cambodia's postwar security, Sirik Matak is expected to discuss with Nixon American aid and the inflation increasingly pressing the Cambodian economy.

The Nixon administration is asking Congress for $185 million to $200 million—in the approximate same range as last year—in military assistance for the Cambodian armed forces. It also is asking $100 million in economic assistance this fiscal year to make up for the loss of Cambodia's export earnings and provide import commodities for the country.

The United States is concerned that in Cambodia's zeal to enlarge its armed forces, it may lose control over economic forces and experience a runaway inflation. U.S. officials say Cambodia's ability to earn foreign exchange from exports of rubber and rice has evaporated since the Vietnam war spilled over into Cambodia on April 30, 1970.

The Cambodian army, which numbered only 35,000 men then, was not capable of contesting Communist use of Cambodian territory as a sanctuary. Since then it has been built up to almost 200,000 men with the United States supplying the basic equipment.

Playmate Asks for Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Margaret "China" Lee, a former Playboy magazine playmate, has asked for a divorce from Mort Sahl, the nightclub and television comic who specializes in the political potshot.

The petition filed in Superior Court Monday said Sahl, 44, and Miss Lee, 28, were married in Beverly Hills Oct. 30 and separated last Wednesday.

Environmental Statement on Gillham

A new draft environmental impact statement on Gillham Dam on the Cossatot River in Southwestern Arkansas has been prepared by Army Engineers and forwarded to various local, state and federal agencies and interested individuals for their comments.

Col. William E. Read, Tulsa District Engineer, said copies of the draft statement are available upon request from the environmental resources section of the District office.

He also announced two public meetings will be held on the environmental impact statement for Gillham Dam. The first will be at Fort Smith, Ark. at 9:30 a.m., Aug. 31 in the Municipal Auditorium at 7th and Parker Streets. The second meeting will be held in DeQueen, Ark. at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 8 in the high school auditorium.

The new impact statement was prepared in compliance with a ruling by a federal court judge in Little Rock which said the original environmental statement filed on Gillham did not meet the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The purpose of the public meetings is to receive for the record new and additional material concerning environmental impacts of Gillham Dam. All interested parties are invited and urged to be present or represented and make their views known at one of these meetings.

The fivepoint environmental statement deals with environmental impacts, adverse effects, alternatives, short term versus long term uses, and irreversible commitments as they pertain to Gillham Dam.

Desertion Rate Climbs in Vietnam

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the shrinking U.S. combat role, the Army's desertion rate in the Vietnam conflict has climbed to the peak set in World War II.

The number of desertion cases in the first 10 months of the 1971 fiscal year, which ended June 30, increased to 88,449, the equivalent of 4 1/2 combat divisions. Figures for the final two months will push it even higher.

Desertion—absent without official leave for more than 30 days—has been on the rise since escalation of the Vietnam war was begun in 1965. In 1968 the desertion rate surpassed the Korean war high of 22.5 per 1,000, but until now it had been below that of World War II.

According to figures supplied by the Army, the rate of desertions for fiscal 1971 as of April was 62.6 per 1,000 men, compared with 52.3 for all of fiscal 1970. During World War II the Army's desertion rate hit a peak of 63 for 1,000 in 1944.

The AWOL and desertion rate for the Navy and Air Force is almost minuscule compared to that of the Army and Marine Corps. The Marines, however, report a decline in their desertion figures from a high of 59.6 per 1,000 in fiscal to 56.1 per 1,000 last year.

A great majority of deserters either are picked up or voluntarily return to their units. Because of the legal difficulty in proving intent of never returning to duty, most are tried on the lesser charge of being AWOL.

A Senate Armed Services subcommittee accused the Pentagon two years ago of a lack of concern and failure to deal sternly with the thousands of servicemen running away each year. In response, the Defense Department last September established a uniform policy for all the services to follow in dealing with deserters.

The Army blamed the Vietnam war for the big increase, citing some soldiers' fear of being wounded or killed in combat as the most frequent reason for running away. Most of those going AWOL did so after receiving their Vietnam orders, the Army said.

But today the casualties are down and fewer replacements are being sent to the battle zone—15,000 a month compared with 45,000 per month in 1968.

TurboTrain to Make First Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-speed TurboTrain starts a tour of half of the Amtrak system Wednesday as the Department of Transportation tries to acquaint the public with the modern passenger train.

The TurboTrains have been operating between Boston and New York for two years, while electric-powered Metroliners have been in use between New York and Washington, D.C.

The month-long TurboTrain tour, covering 12,000 miles and 31 states, is intended in part to survey public opinion on improved passenger trains.

Amtrak President Roger Lewis said Monday the public will be invited to inspect the train at terminals along the route and to ride between route points.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said the tour "will provide us with a unique test of the durability and ride qualities of the equipment." Volpe said the trip will start in Providence, R.I., and will continue through New York, Washington, Miami, New Orleans, Atlanta, Houston, Los Angeles, Oakland, Portland, Ore., Seattle, Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Cincinnati and Cleveland. A number of smaller cities also are included.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

"THING" BRINGS GOOD LUCK

Dear Helen: My girl friend figured her good luck charm for a dud and sold it to me for $1.50. I named it "Thing."

Next day Thing and I were on our way to school. I remembered I'd forgotten my lunch money. Moments later, I found two one-dollar bills on the sidewalk.

Since then, my lost pet dog returned home, I have made up with a girl I had fought with, and have collected on some hopeless bad debts. Better yet, I won a clock radio at the supermarket and a new winter coat at a drawing. Also I have earned $7.50 for doing fun work.

As a test I rented Thing to a girl for three days and six candy bars. She used it to get her boy friend back, but I think Thing goofed on that one.

During that time, without Thing, I was struck by a car at a crossing and spent two hours in a hospital, got in trouble with a teacher, and my wrist watch was stolen.

I have a $10.00 cash offer for

Thing, on a no-return, no-refund basis. Should I sell him?

My Dad says I make my own luck. My Mom said, "Why don't you give Helen Bottel the facts and get her opinion?" So I have.—HALF BELIEVER

Dear H.B.: Your Dad is probably right, bust selling Thing would be like putting an old friend on the auction block.

Nice things happen when you have a "thing" about believing in your luck. Keep the little critter!—H.

Dear Helen:

I feel all the time that everybody is against me. Since I worry so much, I can't go to sleep at nights so I lie awake and count the people that hate me. So far, I'm already at 250.

I'm nervous and kind of dumb too, and everybody makes fun of me. I don't have the courage to go to my folks with this problem, and I don't know anyone else. Please help!—WORRIED

Dear Worried: In your town there's a teen "crisis" line where you can talk anonymously to understanding counselors. The number is posted at your library and on school bulletin boards. Dial it, and you'll find instant help. You will also be referred to a personal therapist, if you need one.—H.

Dear Helen: I'm a 17 year-old boy and not weird. But I have one heck of a problem. I was dating a nice girl and one day she asked me to put on a dress she was making so she could put up the hem. Well, I got carried away and really modeled, even letting her put makeup on me.

I'm always good for a joke. But did she have to take a picture?

Well, we broke up and she's steamed at me, so she's telling all her friends I'm queer. And she has the photo to prove it.

What'll I do?—SLIP

SHOWING

Dear Slip: Tell your good friends exactly how this happened—and ask them to circulate the work. You might also voice it around that people who deal in slander can get sued.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble; let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star. Copyright, 1971, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
